Continuing with the Jobs and Growth Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2003 (JGTRRA) and how it could affect you...

FOR BUSINESSES: A tax law enacted in 2002 temporarily created a bonus depreciation allowance on the purchase of new equipment and machinery. The bonus allowance allows businesses to claim an immediate write-off of 30% from the cost of their purchases. The new law increases the bonus depreciation allowance to 50% for assets acquired after May 5, 2003. Depreciation for passenger automobiles has jumped to $7,650.

The new law also increases the "Section 179" deduction for small businesses. Under the old rules, small businesses could immediately expense up to $25,000 of their equipment and machinery purchases annually in lieu of depreciation. The new law increases the Section 179 deduction to $100,000 and makes more small businesses eligible for the deduction.
